PROGRAM

SUPPORTING RESEARCH:

“Student interaction with faculty has rather consistent positive effects on student self reported learning.”

“Student contact with faculty members outside the classroom appears consistently to promote student persistence, educational aspirations, and degree completion.”

“Studies of more formal, non-classroom interactions between students and faculty members provide additional evidence of the positive benefits of such contacts on student persistence and degree completion.”

“Students' self-reported growth in job skills was significantly enhanced through informal conversations with faculty.”

FACULTY FELLOWS PROGRAM

OBJECTIVES:

The Faculty Fellows program increases faculty student engagement by promoting informal interactions between students, faculty and staff in the residence halls. The program allows faculty and staff to assist students by enriching their intellectual, social and cultural development.

Overall, the program provides the opportunity for residents to learn from the experiences of faculty and staff in their individual areas of expertise.

GOALS:

- To develop meaningful relationships between student and faculty and staff members
- To provide opportunities for faculty and staff members to participate in programs and activities
- To collaborate and support housing staff members

EXPECTATIONS:

- Be present to meet and greet students and parents on move-in day.
- Participate in at least one residence hall program per semester.
- Be willing to participate in a Charleston Chew program.
- Be able to attend Faculty Fellows appreciation sporting events. (i.e., basketball, baseball, etc.)

INVOLVEMENT OPPORTUNITIES:

Below is a list of program and activities that have taken place in the residence hall over the past years and other ideas:

- Attend Housing & Dining related events (i.e., hall council, RHA, NRHH)
- Develop programs based on your interests or expertise
- Collaborate with the Charleston community on an integrated learning project

HOW TO APPLY:

Go to the Faculty Fellows Website and apply today!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

What happens after I sign up?

You'll receive an email confirming your assigned area and later be contacted by a team leader for additional direction. You'll also be provided with an identification badge, polo and a personalized Faculty Fellows promotional poster that you'll help us create.

May I bring my family to events?

It depends on the event, but in most cases yes your family is welcome to attend.

What is a Charleston Chew?

As a Faculty Fellow you may be invited by a resident assistant (RA) to dine in a residential dining center with the students, take part in a residence hall program, or maybe attend a campus activity or community event.
